FreeIndex is a free business website boasting more than 200,000 members ranging from interior decorators and restaurants to florists, beauty salons and mobile therapists.

As well as looking for suppliers or services, business owners can also create a profile page and advertise their services (and special offers) for free. The site also operates a top listing – positions going to the companies that have the best ratings and reviews from their clients – helping consumers to quickly find the best local services as voted by users.
