Personal Injury Trusts & Compensation Trusts

The compensation culture has exploded in this Country in recent years, with many people looking to exploit every possibility. Clients of yours who you may be helping with a personal injury or compensation claim, could lose out if they are not advised to place their award into trust, and they may seek redress from your firm in the future. In fact The Solicitors Journal emphasised the importance of advising clients with regards PI Trusts.

Under current legislation this type of trust is extremely useful as it can help clients retain their present and future entitlement to means-tested benefits, even if their award exceeds the personal capital threshold disregarded by the Benefits Agencies. Even if they do not claim means-tested benefits now, placing the funds in trust preserves their eligibility to claim in the future, of course subject to the criteria in place at the time.

With our help we can prepare the trust documents for you, not only does this safe guard your clients best interest it can also provide your firm with further revenue streams in the form of Trusteeship.
