I am a great believer in learning and sensing when your voice is completely free, then you have found the voice unique only to you.

This is recognised by its beauty, flexibility, honesty, healthy voice, youthfulness of sound, growth in size, good pitch, clear words and purity of tone.

Songs from the popular to the more classical will feel more comfortable to perform; no more sore throats, aching neck muscles, but a feel good factor!

Having learnt much about the skills of good vocal production from some of the best singers, I am delighted that I will be able to share this knowledge with you which will support you in your future singing.

I was born in Cumbria, studied at the Royal College of Music, with Audrey Langford, Harold Miller (closely associated with training singers for musicals) and Glenys Linos, my most wonderful teacher who introduced me to such good vocal practice!
